

Tarble Arts Center

Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois

Design Architect Phase I

Architect Phase II

This University arts center serves as a focus for the arts for a seven-county area in central Illinois. The building massing and interior spaces are conceived as a grouping of 20-ft.-square volumetric cubes organized so that the building's stepped west perimeter follows a diagonal walkway bisecting the square site. Skylight monitors with dampers and integrated artificial lighting provide completely controllable natural and artificial light. We are currently designing an expansion that will include a multi-use lobby/gallery/lecture hall, along with additional classroom and gallery areas.
