

Guangdong Science Center

Guangzhou, China

Conceptual Design

This conceptual design, for what would become the world's largest science center, is inspired from an imaginary tree-covered "Island of Discovery" that is filled with unexpected treasures. As one meanders through this vast multi-level facility, one would encounter unexpected discoveries about science, technology, ecology and Chinese culture. Total gross building area is 1,238,000 sq. ft.

